

Spring 2012

Vol 6:1

"Improving dogs' lives by positively changing dog-owner relationships through balanced training."

Scent Games 101

Canine Scent Work is becoming more and more popular and now is a titling event in the canine sports world.

Whether you want to compete in Canine Nosework or if you're just interested in getting your dog tired while having fun yourself this class is for you.

Dogs of any obedience level (or lack of obedience level), temperament, age or physical condition are welcome.

No homework for the owners. The dog's do all the work and use their noses to solve puzzles. It's a win-win.

There are Scent Games 102 and Odor class scheduled for those who want to continue on.

Scent Games 101: March 20-Apr 17

Tuesdays 6:30-7:30p.m.

Five weeks

Very Limited Class Size

Registration ends March 15th.

April is Pet First Aid Awareness Month

Pet First Aid is the immediate care given to a pet that has been injured or suddenly take ill. This includes home care and when necessary veterinary help. Knowing the skills and techniques of pet first aid can mean the difference between life and death; temporary and permanent disability; and expensive veterinarian bills and reasonable home care.

According to the American Animal Hospital Association (AAHA) one-out-of-four more pets could be saved if just one basic pet first aid skill or technique was applied prior to receiving veterinary care.

As a pet owner we owe it to the pets in our life to be trained in these life-saving skills.

The top 5 Pet First Aid Situations are:

1) Open wounds, 2) Choking (3 different types), 3) Extreme Temperature (heat stroke or frost nip), 4) Insect Bites/Stings & Allergic Reactions and 5) Snakebites.

Do you know the proper procedures to help your pet in these situations? Do you know the normal respiratory rate for your dog? Do you travel or camp with your pet taking yourselves away from familiar pet health care? What would you do in an emergency on the trail or away from home? Pet owners are taking the time out of their life and the dime out of their pocket to become educated and "in the know" by taking a Pet First Aid Class and by using technology to have the necessary information to care for their pets when they are "on the go."

To gain the skills of pet CPR, first aid and care, it is recommended you successfully complete a Pet First Aid class taught by a properly trained instructor. The skills and techniques of a pet first aid and care training should include but not be limited to: restraint and muzzling, CPR, rescue breathing, choking management, heat injuries (1st, 2nd, 3rd degree burns and heat stroke), cold injuries (frost bite and hypothermia), shock management, bleeding injuries and more. In addition, PetSaver Training teaches the top 10 reasons to seek veterinary care, how to put together your own pet first aid kit and establishing an open relationship with your veterinarian!

Pet Tech is the first International Training Center dedicated to CPR, First Aid & Care for dogs and cats. We teach actual pet first aid techniques, not human techniques adapted to pets which other pet first aid classes teach.

This year we would like to highlight the PetSaver™ App - the premiere reference and educational tool for all pet lovers. The PetSaver App includes step-by-step instructions for CPR, first aid skills and daily care information for dogs and cats. There is a separate section for dogs and a separate section for cats with specific information for each type of animal. With a push of a button and a swipe of your finger you can have access to your pet's vital health information. This includes ICE (In Case of Emergency), a first aid kit checklist, emergency pet help locator and administering medications just to name a few.

The PetSaver App is available for iPhone, iPad, iPod Touch Android and Windows 7 mobile devices. If you have Android based mobile devices contact us to find out how to download yours today!

Are you ready for a medical emergency?
Do you want to be?

Canine Coach is offering a 4-hour Pet First Aid & CPR class Sat, April 7th from 12:00 noon until 4:00 p.m. Registration due Mar 31st. Contact us to learn how to be prepared for an emergency with your pet.

Easter Precautions

Easter is just around the corner. Make sure to keep all those chocolate bunnies, Easter basket grass and other goodies out of your dog's reach. Chocolate can be toxic to dogs. Xylitol, an artificial sweetener used in sugar-free gums and candies, is very toxic.

Spring Finally?

Just when we thought we were going to get by with a not very snowy winter, Mother Nature goes and dumps a whole winter's worth of snow in one day!

This winter's erratic weather has made for very variable ice conditions. Be extremely cautious about letting your dog play on or near the ice as spring advances.

The days are getting longer and the forecast is for a warming trend which means before long, we'll be able see some ground peaking out of some leftover dirty snow. That's when it's time to start thinking about everyone's favorite-TICKS! When you can see bare ground, it is the time to start your dog's flea & tick prevention.

Now that our mailboxes are being flooded with garden catalogs, also keep in mind when starting your garden projects cocoa mulch may seem appealing to people, but it's toxic to dogs. Think about the plants you plant if your dog were to munch on them as well. Do your research to ensure everyone's enjoyment and safety.

Keep in mind our wild neighbors as well. Many wild animals are starting to have their babies. Be a considerate neighbor. Did you know letting your dog chase and pester a squirrel can cause her to abort her litter? It's not only the catching of baby animals that can cause harm to wildlife.
